

SERVICE BRIEF

Hardware as a Service

Turn your company's IT infrastructure costs from a capital investment to an operational expense with Hardware as a Service.

What is Hardware as a Service (HaaS)?

Can your company afford to replace the mission-critical hardware required to run your business?

Out of the Box Solutions is known for offering a complete set of IT solutions for business. We are proud to offer Hardware as a Service (HaaS).

Hardware as a Service is a solution for companies that don't want to be saddled with, or simply cannot afford to take on, the capital investment of updating their computing hardware.

Save Money on Essential Hardware

Pay a fixed rate for all of the benefits of updated computer hardware.

Your company's hardware infrastructure has several complex components that are difficult and costly to replace on a regular basis. To complicate things, renewing both hardware and software licenses is thrown into the mix. A small or medium-sized business who doesn't have dedicated IT support can quickly be overwhelmed by these responsibilities and the expenses they entail. In fact, most SMBs don't immediately have the capital available to replace malfunctioning pieces of hardware, which can quickly become hazardous to the continuity of your infrastructure. Furthermore, the proactive maintenance required of most hardware solutions is both time-consuming and costly. Naturally, the best way to bypass these expenses is to pay a fixed monthly rate for all of your hardware upkeep. Out of the Box Solutions' Hardware as a Service solution is geared to help you save money by proactively managing your hardware, so you can always benefit from having the most up-to-date, maintained technology. Our HaaS offering lets you turn the capital expenses of managing your hardware into operation expenses; providing relatively static IT costs and more freedom in your budget.

Gain Peace of Mind

Your IT will always be current and reliable; we refresh your hardware before it grows obsolete.

By eliminating the capital expenses of your business' hardware infrastructure with our HaaS solution, you can end the burdensome struggle between maintaining budget costs and keeping up with the latest technology. Out of the Box Solutions can equip your business with the mission-critical hardware it needs to function, including servers, workstations, routers, switches, and other necessary machines. You can remain confident in your technology by knowing it will be replaced in the event of a hardware failure, or if it grows obsolete.
